Target Population Age & Income Thresholds

The Target Population for the California Partnership for Long-Term Care:

The Partnership seeks to increase long-term care insurance coverage among modest and middle income Californians between the ages of 55 and 74. This group is made up of pre-retirees and early retirees and their spouses. The total number of Californians in this age group are shown below in column 1.

“At Risk” Population: The “At Risk” population is comprised of the middle income Californians within the Target Population—individuals with annual incomes more than the poorest 25% of their age group but less than the richest 25% of their age group and marital status. The population numbers reflected in columns 2 and 4 ensure that the selection includes only individuals whose income, is at a minimum, capable of supporting the average annual premium for a one year policy such that the average annual premium does not constitute more than 7% of the individual’s income. Individuals in the “At Risk” population (columns 2 and 4) are the number of individuals at risk of impoverishing themselves and spending down to Medi-Cal eligibility levels should they incur long-term care expenses and not have private insurance. The “asset protection” feature of Partnership policies is particularly valuable to individuals in the “At Risk” population.

Medi-Cal Resource Limits for Calendar Year 2016*

The California Department of Health Services' Medi-Cal Eligibility Branch has issued the year 2016 community spouse resource allowance (CSRA) and the minimum monthly maintenance needs allowance (MMMNA).

The year 2016 CSRA is $119,220 and the 2016 MMMNA is $2,981 in monthly income.

The resource limits and income provisions work in the following way for a married couple when one spouse is in a nursing home and the other spouse is still at home:

The spouse at home may keep up to $119,220 in resources (property and other assets) while the institutionalized spouse may keep an additional $2,000 in addition to any other exempt assets.

The spouse at home may keep all of the income received in his or her name, regardless of the amount. If the amount is below $2,981 per month, the institutionalized spouse may allocate income to bring the at-home spouse's income up to the $2,981 per month. The spouse in the nursing home is permitted to keep $35.00 in monthly income for personal needs.

The resource limits and income provisions work in the following way for single individuals:

Single individuals are permitted to retain $2,000 in addition to any other exempt assets.

Medi-Cal Share of Cost

If you are on Medi-Cal, you must use your monthly income from Social Security, a pension, etc. to pay for your health and long-term care expenses. Your income will probably not be enough to pay the entire bill, so Medi-Cal will pay the rest of your nursing home bill or any other medical expenses you may have.

You will be allowed to keep a certain amount of your income each month. In 2016, the following is the minimum monthly maintenance needs level:

If you are living in the community an individual may keep $600, a married couple $934; or

If you are in a nursing home, you may keep $35 in monthly income for personal needs; if you are a spouse at home, the at home spouse may keep all of the income received in his/her name, regardless of the amount. If the amount is below $2,981 per month, the institutionalized spouse may allocate income to bring the at home spouse's income up to the $2,981 per month.

In determining your share of cost (SOC), Medi-Cal will calculate your total income. This figure is your net income. Then the monthly maintenance need amount is subtracted from your net income. The remaining amount is your monthly share of cost, the amount you would have to spend on medical or long-term care before Medi-Cal begins payment.

For more detailed information on how the Medi-Cal SOC is calculated, contact your local Department of Health and Human Services.
